

Add new life to your photos with Alayer for iPad

- The release of Alayer for iPad makes adding layered effects to photos extremely simple -

Tirana, Albania -- November 19, 2013 - Loran Dyrmishi today is pleased to announce the release of Alayer 1.0 for iPad, an essential tool that will give anyone unprecedented control over the aesthetics of their photos. With Alayer, you can elevate your simple snapshots while enjoying the benefits of a streamlined photo editing workflow. Add an infinity of layers on your photos.

"Alayer really lets individuals unleash their inner artist," said Loran. "We've included a roster of unique tools to help the users create the most beautiful photos possible right within the app. We can't wait to see what amazing images our fans will produce."

With Alayer you can choose your own textures or other images to blend with your photo. Now you can clone/duplicate the photo you are working with, as a new layer, making Alayer the best photo editing app for adding layers. Alayer includes more than 80+ textures created by photographers. Some of them include effects, light leak, lens flares, gradients and beautiful colorings. The app provides 15 different blending modes. Every new layer you add will create an infinity of beautiful and unique images. All the textures are fully customizable.

"Don't forget to use the Erase Tool for more control over the desired textures. Clean any part of the textures to better fit your images," said Loran Dyrmishi, founder of Delix Software. "You can use the blur tool to blur out part of the texture. You can fade any part of the texture while retaining its color."

This app comes with the love for photography. The possibilities with Alayer are unlimited. You have total control over your texture layers. Change the sharpness, unsharp, hue, saturation, exposure, contrast, brightness or the red, green and blue level of your texture layers. You can rotate, change the opacity, hide, move or delete any of the layers. Change the layers at any time. Drag the layers and see in real time the resulted photo. With a streamlined editing workflow you can change and modify any texture of any layers you have added before.

Alayer for iPad is available for $0.99 on the iTunes App Store at:
